Mrs. Schlesinger Retires After Twenty-One Years

Mrs. Schlesinger the week before the end of the 2005-06 school year.

What would it be like to live a life of music? Mrs. Schlesinger would be the person to ask. I had the opportunity to interview her to find out exactly what this life would be like. Twenty-one years of that life have been spent in the DeLand-Weldon School District, where she also graduated in 1969.

After graduating from DWHS, she attended Millikin University, where she majored in music education and graduated in 1973. Her first teaching job was at PawPaw, Illinois, where she taught Kindergarten through 12th grade Band and Chorus. Mrs. Schlesinger taught there for 12 years. After leaving Pawpaw, she became the teacher that we all know. Starting in 1985, she was just the HS band teacher. The next year the HS chorus teacher left, so she was designated to be the Jr. High and High School band and chorus teacher. With her growing experience here at DeLand-Weldon, two years later, she became the elementary teacher also. This is how I have always known her. She was my music teacher ever since I have been a student here—which is saying something, because I came here in my first grade year.

During the interview, I asked her what her favorite and funniest memories were. She couldn't pick just one memory to be her favorite, so she gave me a couple. She loved doing elementary programs, giving her the opportunity to work with the little kids. She also loved getting the high school students ready for the long trips to Florida and New York for the last ten years. In regard to funniest memories, two came to mind rather quickly. The first dealt with a student who was enthusiastic and always ready to throw her hand into the air to answer questions. One day, as a performance was close, this student kept raising her hand while Mrs. Schlesinger was trying to give last minute instructions. She told the student several times to lower her hand and wait until the instructions were finished. When she had finished, she found that the student had been trying to tell her that her zipper was down.

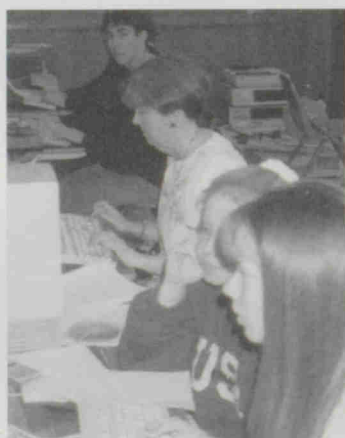

Suzan Baker graduated from DeLand-Weldon High School in 1969.

Her second funniest memory could have been a disaster. One day Mrs. Schlesinger was up on the stage in a storage room looking for some items. While in the process of looking for the items she moved some risers to where they were standing up straight. Thinking no more of the risers, she went on with her business. The next thing she knew the risers were on top of her. Her first reaction was to scream for help. She screamed for about 15 minutes and no one came to help. Finally she calmed down enough to try and scoot her body from under the risers. Mrs. Schlesinger walked out of the stage and went to talk to other teachers. She told me that three or four teachers heard her calling for help, but they thought it was just a student messing around. Later that day Mr. Stiverson sent her home.

One of her greatest accomplishments over the years—according to her—was when she was able to convince Mr. Stiverson, Mr. Waddell, and Mr. Eatock to dress up as the California Raisins. She says if she had to choose her occupation over again she would do the same thing. If she had not been a music teacher, she says she would have opened a restaurant that served fried chicken and fish.

What does someone do when they retire from so many years filled with activity and memories? Mrs. Schlesinger would like to get into the travel consultation business, play golf, and watch her grandchildren grow up. She will probably also spend time playing her favorite instruments, flute and piano. No doubt she will also listen to pop music and her favorite artist, Elvis Presley.

Senior Wills

We, the members of the Senior Class of 2005-2006, being of sound mind and body, hereby bequeath the following...

I, Siarah Flanagan, bequeath the following:

...to Neil Jacobs: two loin cloths, the ability to tell people how you truthfully feel about them, and the ability to keep your crazy thoughts to yourself.

...to Kyle Berry: the ability to dress like a prep for just one day...in other words, pants that actually fit you, and a polo.

...to Caleb Neathery: the ability to realize it is not hug time and that I am your favorite senior.

...to Haley Eads: the ability to not like P.E. like the rest of us and the ability to be an actress because we all know you are a star.

...to Jennifer Weddle and Haley Eads: the ability to randomly go to Wal-Mart at midnight- trust me it is fun

...to Jackie Sinks: a lifetime supply of deodorant and body spray, so you won't have to continue to use mine, and the ability to trip people in Matball

...to "Mr. C Sir" aka Mr. Cunningham: the ability to talk about having an IHOP night with the seniors without getting in trouble, and to realize we are your favorite class.

...to Mrs. Amdor: the ability to realize you will miss me, the ability to realize that the scary train guy did kill off that school, and the ability to realize the right answer is Ray Charles.

...to Mrs. Herrmann: the ability to get mad at someone, the ability to keep making treats every Monday, and the ability to realize you like our class best.

...to Zach Roberts: the ability to realize you are the coolest freshman ever, and to keep the "pound it and throw it down" alive.

...to Jarad Jones: the ability to pay attention to the amazingness of what is right under your nose, and the ability to realize I don't hate you and I never have, and the ability to realize that you are and always be "The Blob."

...to the remaining students at Del-Wel: to realize that Myspace is not the greatest thing in life, the ability to go one day without worrying about what someone else might think of you, the ability to stop following others and trying to be like them- be an individual

I, Kendra Moore, bequeath the following:

...to Kelly Mank: a sneaver

...to Mrs. Amdor: the ability to have another calculus student just like me! I know that is a difficult challenge

...to Rufus aka Neil Jacobs: a lifetime supply of baby carrots, so you can carve anything you want

...to Jarad Jones: the ability to get through the day without me and to realize when you have something good right in front of you, the ability to quote Monty Python and The Little Rascals anytime you want, as well as the entire set of Star Wars movies!!

...to Courtney Dalton: the ability to keep your head up high, you're a great person. Don't let anyone or anything keep you from your happiness

...to C: more baby bunnies, the ability to go on without having a Moore in any of your classes, and to realize the Seniors are your favorite class

...to Tyler Weaver: the ability to be a leader not a follower, you know I luv ya buddy!

...to Mr. DeJaynes: anything your heart desires- you are an inspirational and fantabulous teacher!

...to Haley Eads and Jennifer Weddle: the ability to be the next "Siarah and Kendra," you two are great!

...to the entire Del-Wel clan: the ability to see their true beauty inside and out, and to know that you can do anything you want to, nothing can stop you but yourself

I, Ashley Arnold, bequeath the following:

...to Haley Eads: the ability to NOT let people influence your decisions. The ability to say how you really feel about someone and don't hold back, your own private jet to Hollywood, and the ability to know I am ALWAYS on your side. A bike to ride so you don't have to walk home at 4:30 A.M.

...to Jennifer Weddle: the ability to stand up for yourself and to make it out of this place without going insane! and the "soap opera"

...to Jennifer Weddle and Haley Eads (North & South): the ability to keep Monical's Nights alive, and my garage roof!

...to C: the ability to TRY to find a class as good as ours! (even though it will never happen)

...to Zach Roberts: the ability to realize "he" is not any better than you are

...to Mrs. Herrmann: the ability to know your class is important and it really does matter!

...to Jarad Jones: the ability to dance so you don't have to miss out on all of the fun stuff your Senior year

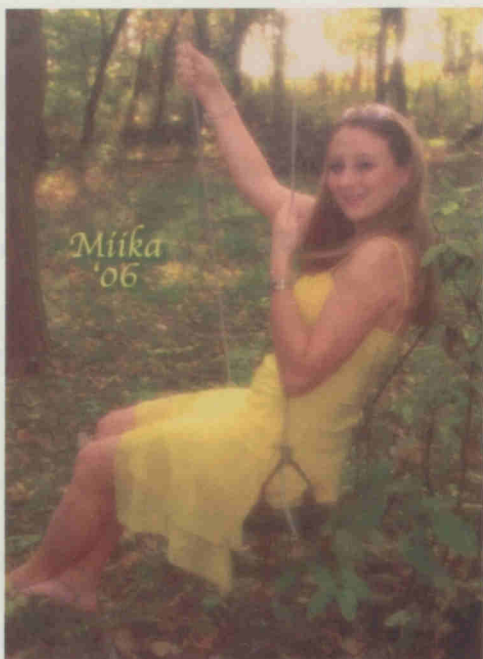

...to Neil Jacobs: the ability to finally confess your love to "you know who!"

...Jeremiah Coakley: the ability to realize who you truly love (Miika) and a life time supply of girl pants

...to the Class of 2007: WE DID NOT CHEAT!

...to Jackie Sinks: a lifetime supply of lotion

"They may forget what you said, but they will never forget how you made them feel"

"Courage doesn't always roar. Sometimes courage is the quiet voice at the end of the day saying, 'I will try again tomorrow.'"

I, Miika Garrett, bequeath the following:

...to Marah Lewis: the ability to survive your two remaining years at Del-Wel without me!
The ability to escape the Del-Wel drama which is something I could never do.

...to Jeremiah Coakley (Biff): the ability to be careful and take care of yourself, the ability to realize that you are loved by all, and the realization that you have always been and always will be the person I trust and count on the most!

...to Jessica Raup: the ability to get me through one spinning/twirling ride at six flags without getting ill!

...to Kassie Deedrick: the ability to realize that you are a pretty person, and the ability to focus on school and not boys!

...to Josh Taylor: the ability to use the sense that God gave you! USE IT WISELY!

...to C: the realization that we are your favorite class and you are our favorite teacher, and the realization that the constitution is SO boring! We will miss you!

...to Molly Ingersoll: the ability to keep throwing amazing punches, and the realization that you're an amazing person! Never change!

...to the Volleyball team: the ability to make your season memorable and ever lasting!
The bonds that you make on the court stick with you even once the season is over! Seniors, you will never get it back so enjoy it while it lasts!

...to those of you who feel invisible: the realization that you're not invisible at all! The ability to realize that you do matter and you shouldn't have to change for anyone. High school is just another game that won't matter later on in life!

...to Jarad Jones (J-RAD): the ability to go to Champaign and do what we were suppose to do, and to make it home in time so your mom doesn't hate me!

I, Windy King, bequeath the following:

...to Kelly Mank: the ability to tell what you think about people to their faces.

...to Tyler Weaver: the ability to explain something without laughing

...to Molly Ingersoll: the ability to stay sweet and keep the flip-flops going!

...to C: the ability to realize we are your favorite Senior class

...to Brittany Rost and Keegan Followell: the ability to stay loveable to each other; and to keep things real and truthful

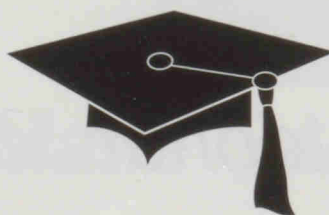

...to Jessica Raup and Brittany Fisher: the ability to keep things real, have respect for each other, live life to the fullest, and never give up.

...to Mrs. Willis: Thanks for everything!

...to Danielle Sharp: respect is the key word to a friendship

...to Josh Taylor: It's your fault, not "my bad!"

...to Brittany Norfleet" the ability to behave yourself, stay healthy, enjoy life! The ability to take one day at a time.

I, Jordan Followell, bequeath the following:

...to Craig Fry: the realization that you come in second place in the hack master championship. Your ninja moves can't save you, the only reason we let you play is because it makes us cool to associate with someone known as the "Fry-Train"

...to Kyle Berry: my love of good music, and my most prized possession..... MY BELT!

...to Keegan Followell: plain and simple memory. Keegan, I hope you always remember times like "Playback" and one thats even more important-Paintball road. Have a good senior year brother, come to me anytime. I'll probobaly be at my grandparents until I'm 40

...to Danielle Sharp: again memory, some day you'll remember I'm not the third Christopher Jordan Followell, but the first. The most important thing for you to know is that you're the most important and fun person in my life.

...to Mr. DeJaynes: to help spread the word about great television shows like Buffy the Vampire Slayer. More importantly to guide trouble makers like Keegan and Fry and influence them like you have me these past 6 months

...to Zach Roberts: to remain young at heart forever! I don't know where I would be without your Mike Berry impersonations.

...to Tyler Weaver: all the Alkaline Trio cds ever--actually 2 copies of each; another bonus for Weaver--light shoes and a lifetime supply of hackey sacks

...to Nash Ramage: a life size poster of Priest Holmes and Brandon Boyd. These are the two coolest cats to hit the stage or field in a long time. Keep watchin' the chiefs and rockin' to Incubus

...to Josh Taylor: the power to admit that a six-two suited hold 'em hand isn't good. I wish you and Kassie a prosperous life together with Swove and if all else fails, there is always Chelsea Barr

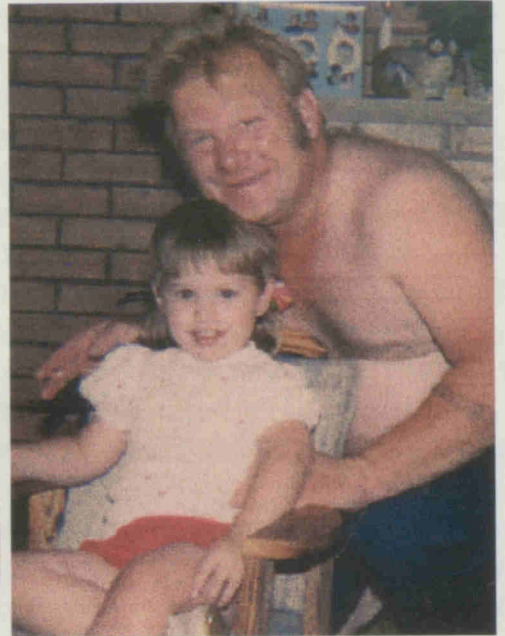

...to Jesse Shonkwiler: the ability to remain in the 80's forever. I hope you stay there and spread the good word about the electric guitar and long hair. KEEP ON ROCKIN' IN THE FREE WORLD, BROTHER!

Even though we're a small school, there is no lack of clubs and activities for students. While small enrollment can make a great deal of work for club members, no one seems to mind too much, as long as they can do what they enjoy. For those who like an academic challenge there are Scholastic Bowl, Drama Club, and Yearbook Club. For those who are service-oriented there is Lifesavers.

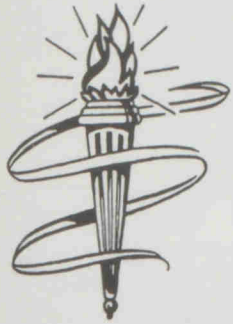

The 2005-2006 Scholastic Bowl Team was under the capable coaching of Mrs. Pat Amdor, who has served several years in the capacity. She always gave her best and encouraged students to do the same. Although they did not have a "winning" season, the group had a good time and learned a great deal.

Drama Club was under the sponsorship of Mr. Randy DeJaynes, who completed his fifth year as Drama Club advisor and play director. This year the students performed a play written especially for them by Mr. DeJaynes. It was another enjoyable year for the students as they learned more about play production. Mr. DeJaynes was also advisor for the Yearbook Club, a position he has held for four years now. With the able help of Siarah Flanagan (Editor) and Kendra Moore (Assistant Editor) it was another successful year.

Lifesavers, our only service-oriented club, continued under the advisorship of Mrs. Sara Schilawski, who has been advisor to the club for six years now.

Scenes from "Fractured Fairy Tales and Nutty Nursery Rhymes"

Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player that struts and frets his hour upon the stage and then is heard no more.

—Macbeth V,v,27-29

The drama presentation for the 2005-06 season was written by Mr. DeJaynes especially for the D-W Drama Club. Fractured Fairy Tales & Nutty Nursery Rhymes was presented on Friday, 21 April 2006 in the high school gym. The cast included Siarah Flanagan (narrator-grandmother), Jarad Jones (Tommy, spider, Little Jack Horner), Haley Eads (Belle, Wee Willie Winkie), Jen Weddle (Alice), Jordan Followell (Jack the Wolf), Tyler Weaver (Orville the Wolf), Kendra Moore (Red Riding Hood, Miss Muffet), Joe Bateman (Prince, police officer), Nash Ramage (Hansel), Samantha Day (Gretel), Neil Jacobs (Jack Be Nimble, police officers), Molly Ingersoll (Jack's mother). Director was Mr. DeJaynes (Drama Club Advisor). Student Director and Stage Manager was Keegan Followell. Craig Fry was Props Manager. Prompter was Windy King and Kelly Mank assisted with makeup.

Kendra, Siarah and Samantha enjoy a period of "learning" at the Workshop.

Craig finds a new use for the pica stick.

In October, several members of the yearbook staff accompanied Mr. DeJaynes to Richland Community College in Decatur, where the Herff Jones Yearbook Company was holding a workshop for students and advisors.

Students attended various sessions which taught them how to lay-out a yearbook and make it as appealing as possible.

Students attending were: Kendra Moore, Siarah Flanagan, Samantha Day, Craig Fry, Holden Husinga, and Tyler Weaver.

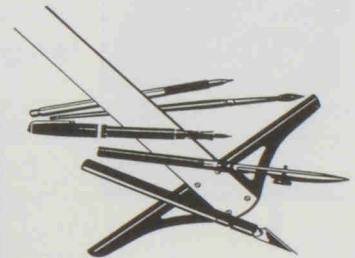

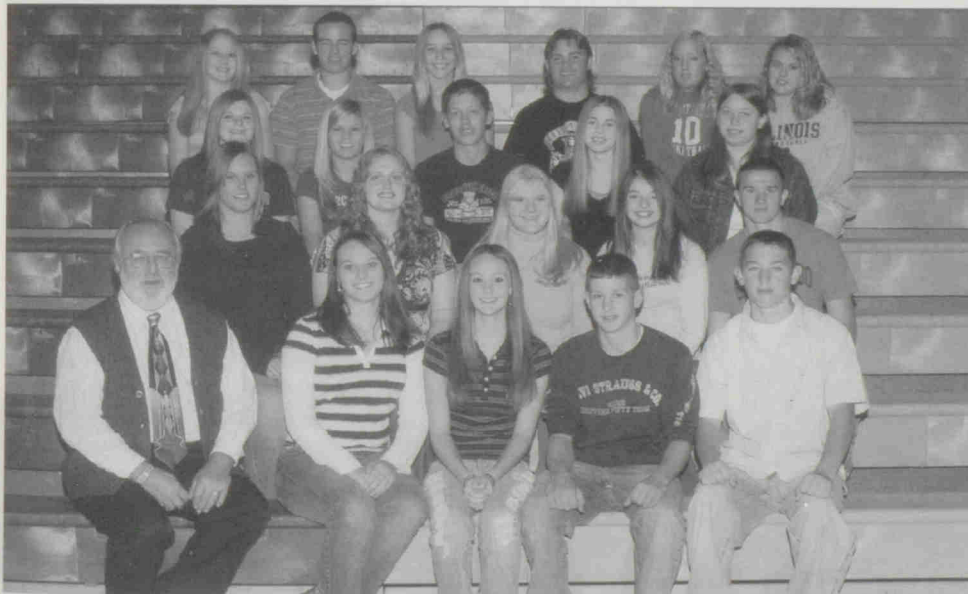

Holden gleans all kinds of new ideas for yearbook layout.

Tyler is ready to go...as usual.

GRADUATION 2006

"Where Dreams end...
...and begin..."

The 2006 Graduating Class of DeLand-Weldon High School: Miika Garrett, Windy King, Jordan Followell, Kendra Moore, Ashley Arnold, Siarah Flanagan.

Six seniors were honored Saturday, 27 May 2006, as they completed their high school education at DeLand-Weldon High School. The ceremony took place at 2 p.m. in the high school gym, with a large crowd in attendance. The seniors entered the gym to the strains of Pomp and Circumstance, played on the piano by Mrs. Schlesinger, Band & Chorus teacher. Mr. Corey presented the Class of 2006 to Mr. Josh Shofner, president of the DeLand-Weldon school board.

Graduates enter the gym to the strains of Pomp & Circumstance. Top: Ashley Arnold, Siarah Flanagan, Jordan Followell, Miika Garrett, Windy King, and Kendra Moore.

Ashley Arnold, Siarah Flanagan and Kendra Moore sang "Remember Me," accompanied by Mrs. Schlesinger.

Kendra Moore, Valedictorian, spoke about the necessity of friendship in the education process.

● TIME TO look BACK

Siarah Flanagan, Salutatorian, spoke about the need to strive to be the best you can be.

Mrs. Arlis DeJaynes, Chair of the English Department at St. Teresa High School, Decatur, gave the keynote address and told the graduates about the moral obligation of education in the United States today.

Kendra Moore received the DWEA Scholarship from Mrs. Tammy Brieher.

A few words from the Advisor...

It seems like I just finished writing one of these blurbs for last year's Yearbook. Time goes more quickly every year as I watch people graduate who should be about sophomores in my mind.

This year the seniors chose "Dream" as their motto and the theme for the yearbook. It's a good motto. It reminds us all that there is more to life than what we see around us. To dream is to hope and plan. I believe that is what this year's seniors have done. They all have plans for their futures--things they have dreamed about and hoped for. Someone once said, "Never laugh at anyone's dreams. People who don't have dreams don't have much." That's very true, and very timely. If I could give one piece of advice that would be followed it would be this: "Daydream less and dream more."

As another year comes to a close at DeLand-Weldon High School, we have cleaned the shelves, packed away posters and wall decorations until next year, and have begun to think about what next year will bring. For the class of 2006, I hope that it will bring the best of everything you have dreamed. I also hope that the Classes of 2007, 2008, and 2009, will learn to dream and make plans for their futures.

With a little dream of my own...

Mr. D.
